

A Graduation

6 spontaneous poems

by Bill Eberle

A Graduation

6 spontaneous poems

by

Bill Eberle

wcePub

wcePublishing 2023

Cover Photo

Lilac answers pine, Thomaston Maine June 9, 2013

© 2013, 2023 William C. Eberle

Sony NEX-3 w. E 18-14mm f 3.5-5.6 OSS lens, 1/50 sec, f/11, ISO Speed 200, Focal Length 20 mm

© 2013, 2023 William C. Eberle

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopying, recording or by any information storage and retrieval system, except in cases of short excerpts in reviews of this book, without permission in writing from the Publisher.

Updated PDF Edition

wcePublishing

15 North Street
Thomaston, Maine 04861

billeberlepoet.com

© 2013, 2023 William C. Eberle

All rights reserved

Published electronically in the United States of America

Eberle, William C. 1945 – [Poems. Selections]

ISBN: 978-0-9890754-2-8 (pdf)

A Graduation 6 spontaneous poems/ William C. Eberle Updated Edition

© 2013, 2023 William C. Eberle

Publication History:

First PDF edition published in 2013

Updated PDF edition published with updated URL links in 2023 for

Alayna

this fabric of what you can do is in your grasp and you can fold it and it touches in different places

Alan Magee

Forward

I don't write poetry. Something inside of me that is related to poetry but earlier, more primitive, takes a hold of me and shakes me and takes me for a ride. The only way I can keep from falling off is to write, parse, push, feel, play, and reach . . . and keep putting words on paper until it's over, and the ride ends. Then I get to take a deep breath, remember some of the music from the trance I was in, and try to wrap my simple heart and brain around what is left - some words on paper. What is amazing to me is what I've learned from all of these experiences, that the spark for all of the poems that have come out of me is always love, a desire to tell someone I care about something inexpressible and wonderful, something worth remembering.

Bill Eberle

Contents

Cover	i
Title page	ii
Copyright page	iii
Edition page	iv
Dedication	v
Quote	vi
Forward	vii
Thank you	a
Afterward	b
oceanside graduation 2013	1
glass and leather	2
graduation day	3
it's hard	4
finding the graduate	5

oceanside graduation 2013

I really liked
when they all sang and clapped together

sang and clapped out to all of us

out here

coming alive
as one graduating body

hey! clap clap here we are hooray!

and here we come into your ears and hearts

one by one

June 11, 2013

glass and leather

how wonderful it would be if year after year people became softer and softer like sea glass smoothed by water and sand instead of sharper and sharper like broken glass smashed apart
over and over
by life
and by time

I will say this though some people actually become stronger

and stretchable

not like glass at all more like thick old leather protecting precious bodies keeping hold of hearts that expand

with each sorrow

nurturing love

that grows
and grows

and grows

June 11, 2013

edited June 12, 2013

graduation day

children
flipping to adults

not really

none of us ever do

at first many of us just learn to pretend or rebel

and maybe sometimes after hard lessons

find a place in ourselves
where we can live

clean and clear and true because sorrow interns some of us and accidents and craziness take some too

but if we're lucky things happen
that don't bury us and finally finally we begin to learn and learn and learn exactly what we always knew but didn't quite ever really know

deep down

just yet

or exactly what we can do if we want to

and what we are finally ready for exactly what's most important just to us to what's been always living there

inside our hopeful hopeful
hearts

children
flipping to adults

not really

none of us ever do

some pretend and some hide and some find a way to finally live free and clear and true but deep inside

we are all and always

children

through and through and through

June 11, 2013

it's hard

things aren't easy

"easy to say and hard to do"

"nothing comes from nothing" and all that but what does it really mean anyone who's built a house or a complicated computer program from scratch

knows

and may be able to tell you if you can listen

a good artist

and each person who dares to create something that never existed or change something carefully to make it better

knows too

it means starting with nothing but an idea and starting with not knowing but believing you can figure it out and building from that one piece and one fact at a time and learning how to fit each piece each fact

with another

over and over

day after day
and make mistakes and care enough to see them and fix them and learn
and not make mistakes but stand back and want to make it even better and do some parts again until you know they're right day by day one piece one fact married to another
sets of facts and pieces put together to make bigger pieces
and one assembly
married to another
building and building until you're done and your idea works just like you knew it would

June 12, 2013

finding the graduate

like salmon
swimming up people

up the corridor we swam

our quest to find just one graduated person

it seemed fairly simple but connecting crisscrossing people made our passage

quite a web

it didn't matter

we were all on a similar journey

and find her we did

June 11, 2013

based on a private poem, revised slightly June 17, 2013

Thank you

Afterward

On and on we go

Don't ever forget to trust your feelings and what you don't yet know and want to find

6-15-13 in a High School Graduation Book other PDF books of poetry by Bill Eberle

Sue 4 poems for my sister

10 Love Poems

Where we live and other poems

2012 23 Poems

Going Out Vacation Poems

3 Days in Arizona and more in Maine

Sue 8 poems for my sister

Ann 10 poems for my daughter

wcePub

wcePublishing

billeberlepoet.com